The Search for Dark Matter at Boulby Mine

Dr Chamkaur Ghag

School of Physics and Astronomy

University of Edinburgh

Tuesday 15th March 2011, 5:30pm

Stephenson Building, Teesside University

Astronomers are now convinced there is much more out in space than meets the eye. As well as the stars & galaxies we can see on a clear night, observations show there must also be much more matter out there that we cannot see. This is known as 'DARK MATTER'

Suitable for all – no expertise in astrophysics or cosmology required!
